Detail:

Acadia National Park is one of the most popular tourist destinations in the State of Maine. As with all With activities for both children and families, this national park is a hit with everyone. Standing since decades on Mt Desert Island, the scenery of this park is the reason for the developmmt of tourism in the area. Besides, the wildlife ensures that there is a lot to see. The park is open year round so one need not worry about timing his/her vacation accordingly. Acadia National Park offers a glimpse into everything that is Maine. You can feast your eyes on craggy coast lines bordering the Atlantic Ocean, cobble stone beaches, and deep valley carved out of the tall mountains. The geography of Acadia National park is amongst the most diverse in the country. You can find sprawling meadows, salty marshes and dense green forest all within the confines of the park. Another intersting thing about the park is that no matter which part of it you are in. you can smell traces of the ocean throughout. When you visit you have the choice of going on your own, or enjoying a tour with one of the highly trained Ranger staff that oversees the park. There are two camp grounds on the park that are both at a short distance from the ocean. The campgrounds are all located in the woods giving a rustic and outdoorsy feel. A word of advice- be ready for changing climates when you visit. The weather at Acadia National Park can change frequently in any season. The best part is that you don't have to be a camper, to enjoy its beauty. The area around the park offers all kinds of lodging options. Whether you want four star hotels or bed and breakfasts, they can be easily found here. What about food, you ask? You can savor the famous Maine lobster or dine on non-seafood delicacies. A visit to Acadia National Park will leave you with beautiful memories, which will with remain with you even after years have passed by.
